

Maureen Groppe has a story in the Indy Star today about the agreement reached yesterday by the White House and congressional leaders on an economic stimulus package.

Pence Quote Excerpt:

Rep. Mike Pence, R-Columbus, is among House conservatives urging more business tax cuts.

"Handing out checks to Americans and families is certainly popular, and it certainly will be welcome at my kitchen table," Pence said. "But it very likely will have little effect on the downturn that we're experiencing in our financial markets. The danger of underreacting is much greater than the danger of overreacting."
